CAMPOODIE DOOMED!

Excellent Detective Work By Game Warden Earl Hiscox Leads To Capture of Gold Canyon Trio

The mystery surrounding the firing of a rifle bullet through the tent of campers near Snow Tent, narrowly missing a young woman was cleared with th earrest of Walter Hickerson, J. D. Holmes and Timothy Riley by Game Warden Earl Hiscox, J. D. Rafferty, law enforcement officer of the Tahoe National Forest and Deputy Sheriff Ronald Fraser.

The men confessed firing the shot but stated they thought they were firing at a deer. The trio pleaded guilty to charges of night hunting before Justice of the Peace George Gildersleeve here yesterday afternoon and were each sentenced to serve 50 days in the county jail in lieu of a $100 fine.

The shot, admittedly fired by Hickerson, pierced the tent of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Agers of Oakland. The bullet came within inches of striking Mrs. Agers.

The arrest of the trio was the result of the excellent detective work of Game Warden Hiscox. The game warden followed the tracks of the car in which the men drove away from the scene of the shooting. The tracks led over miles of mountain road and finally to the camp of Holmes in Gold Canyon.

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

When the editorial mentioned below was reprinted in the Nugget, it should have been properly labeled "Joke." Nobody in these parts would know Harry See from Adam's off ox. He seems to have watched others water, cultivate and prune the fruit tree, and now steps in, with the help of an innocent editor, and picks the fruit, taking all the credit for having obtained the funds over a period of nearly ten years, for the improvement of the Downieville road. It does not seem necessary, so well are the facts known, to set down here the names of those to whom the credit is due for at length moving the hard hearts of the State Highway Commission. The letter that follows from Senator Jerrold Seawell reviews the history of the improvement to the Downieville highway, vulgarly known as the May West road, gives the sum expended upon it, and sets right the editor whose political friend misled him. The letter follows:

Mr. H. M. Leete
Nevada City Nugget
Nevada City, California
Dear Mr. Leete:

I recently noted the editorial reprinted in your paper written by Editor Bert Cassidy of the Auburn Journal relating to the Nevada City Downieville State High way in which he gave the entire credit for the improvement of this road to one Harry See, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, for securing the monies that made the improvements on that highway and elaborating upon the same.

Having represented this district in the legislature since 1929 and Sierra County since 1931, I can not let such a statement go unchallenged and I have taken the trouble to secure the facts from the State Department of Public Works' highway engineer. I have before me every budgetary appropriation for this road since the year 1932, including the coming biennium of 1941-43.

There has been expended a gross amount of $465,793 in Sierra County, $6,176 in Yuba County and $137,966 in Nevada County during that period of time. This makes a total amount of $609,935 in construction work. In addition to this, there has been expended over the same period of time $302-538 in the same counties and on the same road for maintenance purposes, making a total expenditure of $912,473 in both construction and maintenance work.

On December 31, 1940, I appealed to the Highway Commission for an additional appropria-

NEVADA COUNTY MEN HELD ON GOLD CHARGES

Joseph Omer Launius, 56, and Mart Amos Sharp, 62, both of Nevada County, are held in jail in Sacramento on charges of falsifying affidavits to the United States mint in the selling of gold.

Bail for the two men has been set at $1,500 each. They will be given a hearing Saturday morning in Sacramento before United States Commissioner Adellia McCabe.

The two men are accused of selling the gold and signing affidavits it came from a creek in Nevada County. The government claims the gold was obtained from a third man now employed at Friant Dam.

Returns From Santa Cruz—

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Tamblyn, who have been vacationing in Santa Cruz and Yosemite, have returned to Nevada City.

Enjoy Picnic Today—

In depositions taken by Rafferty, the men made the following statements:

"I, J. D. Holmes, do hereby make the following voluntary statement:

"On the night of August 4, 1941, at about 7 p. m., I left my residence at Gold Canyon, accompanied by Walter Hickerson and Timothy Riley, and headed for Graniteville, arriving at Graniteville at about eight p. m. Walter Hickerson had his .32 special rifle, and Riley's .22 caliber rifle was in the automobile. We intended to kill a deer if we saw one. We left Graniteville about 8:30 p. m. on the night of August 4, 1941, and drove to Snow Tent, and took the road to the Robbins Ranch; about one quarter of a mile from the Bloomfield Road we saw a deer cross the road, and Hickerson jumped from the auto and fired one shot from his rifle at the deer. Riley left the automobile after the shot, upon hearing Hickreson calling to him. I did not leave the automobile, which I was driving, at any time. When Hickerson and Riley returned to the automobile I turned the car around and returned to my camp at Gold Canyon."

The statement of Timothy Riley, alias LaVon Hermanson:

"In the company of 'Jiggs' Holmes and Walter Hickerson I was hunting deer on the night of August 4, 1941, when in the vicinity of the Bucks Bros. mail box and about three quarters of a mile from the junction of the Robbins Ranch road and ridge road, Holmes stopped the car and called our attention to a light on the east side of the road. Hickerson got out of the car with his rifle and I directed a flash light in the direction of the light which looked like deer eyes to me. Hickerson said it would be a difficult shot about 40 yards, and fired. Hickerson claimed he heard some one shout when he fired so we turned the car around and headed it in the direction of the main ridge road. When we drew abreast of the point where the shot was fired we saw some one coming toward us with a flash light. Realizing that we had shot a a camp and fearing that the party would fire at us in return we drove away in the direction of Bloomfield. I estimated the time of this incident at about ten p. m.

"The purpose of our trip was to hunt and kill deer with the aid of flashlight and not to injure or kill any human being."

Hickerson's statement was:

"On the night of August 4th, 1941 in the company of J. D. Holmes and one man known as Timothy Riley, left Gold Canyon buildings in Holmes' automobile for Graniteville at about 7 p. m., arriving at about 8 p. m. We bought a gallon of wine and some groceries at Graniteville, and then proceeded to the Robbins Ranch read near Snow Tent. I had

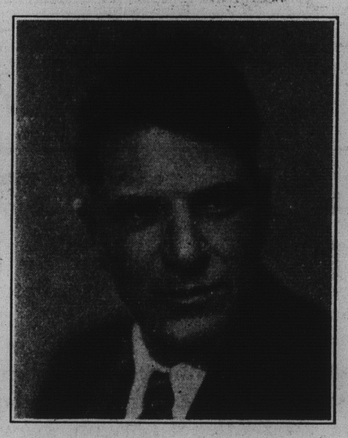
Orders Ban On Slot Machines



DISTRICT ATTORNEY STOLL

D. A. AGAIN CLAMPS DOWN ON OPERATION OF GAMBLING DEVICES

Stating the law must be enforced, District Attorney Vernon Stoll issued instructions to all law enforcement officers to ban the operation of slot machines in Nevada County.

The action by the district attorney followed numerous complaints of the operating of the gambling devices, the possession of which is even unlawful.

District Attorney Stoll has conscientiously sought to prevent infiltration of the machines into the county but despite his watchfulness occasionally the gambling devices appeared in various places.

During the past several years, District Attorney Stoll has several times called to the attention of the public officers of the operation of the machines and requested immediate action to stop them.

The machines were operating in Nevada City several months ago but were banned on the order of the city council. Their operation continued, however, elsewhere in the county, until Stoll's order to law enforcement officers this week.

Supervisor Guerdon Ellis of the Tahoe National Forest, accompanied by Ranger Anselmo Lewis, left yesterday on a several days field trip within the North Bloomfield ranger area. The two forest men are traveling by horseback.

Local Indians To Be Transferred To Placer Co. Colony

REASON FOR INTENDED CHANGE FOR LOCAL TRIBE IS UNKNOWN HERE

(By Mrs. Belle Douglass)

The inmates of the Indian camp west of town are about to be moved to Placer County. Who thought this up or for what purpose is beyond my ken. I have always been deeply interested in the welfare of California Indians and have given the subject some study. The current state of affairs did not come to my attention until today and I consulted Katherine Williamson who has had charge of the old women at the camp. The stewardship of Mrs. Williamson has been faithful and helpful although some of the men at the camp have criticised her and accused her of "graft" but she makes a regular accounting to those in authority and keeps strict report of all expenditures.

Some years ago through the influence of the Native Sons and Daughters and the efforts of interested citizens, such as Henry Schroeder, Hattie Buffington, F. L. Arbogast, myself and many others had a meeting at the camp with the Indian agent. The property had been vested in the name of Chief Charley Cully and legally at his death reverted to his wife Josie who was made to understand that if she would sign her rights away it would be used for the benefit of her people for all time. It had never been an official reservation though a later agent called it so. More recently there has been more or less "overseeing" which, in my opinion was not always for the best care of the inmates. Indians are entitled to the old age pension and lately many comforts have been added through that source, the last being an addition to the home of Polly by annexing one of the other cabins.

Some time ago I saw the camp at Auburn and feel that unless some drastic improvements are made the women will not be as happy or as comfortable as at present. As the land belongs to them here and the expense is no more, I am at a loss to understand the move.

Many do not know that the California Indians are the only tribes who have not been reimbursed for the lands taken from them. California was a part of the original territory of Mexico, preceding which it was part of the Spanish Domain, prior to that, of the aborigines, who had immemorial possession in which their title was recognized by every civilized nation of the earth.

We made a treaty with Mexico guaranteeing the rights of the Indians to the possession of their property of all kinds. Then came the discovery of gold and within three years two hundred thousand white men rushed in. With this population we were admitted to statehood in 1850 without territorial government and two senators were sent to Washington. Eighteen treaties were negotiated with the Indians for the purpose of having them surrender their title to the entire state in exchange for eighteen tracts of land. Four hundred of their representatives signed a surrender. Meanwhile a state government had been formed, the legislature opposing ratification of the treaties and passing a resolution in accordance with that idea.

White men did not want the Indians to have access to any of the gold country and the resolution proposed driving every one of the Indians from the state boundaries. When the resolution was sent to

The Nevada City Unified School District trustees last night turned thumbs down on the request of a number of parents for the establishment of a kindergarten here.

The school trustees were of the opinion the instituting of a kindergarten at this time would be an undue burden upon the taxpayers of the district.

It is not known at the present whether the kindergarten proponents will resort to a writ of man damus to compel the board of education to establish the school The law provides, that if the required number of signatures were secured it was mandatory on the trustees to establish the kindergarten. The necessary number of signatures had been secured.

Action by the school board was taken at the time set for a hearing on the proposed annual school budget. The budget included $1320 for a kindergarten teacher, $750 for equipment and $1,000 for remodeling the recreation shed at the elementary school for a kindergarten room.

The trustees, after hearing arguments for and against the kindergarten, adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, it appears that a request has been made to this board to have a kindergarten established, and,

"Whereas, while this board believes that a kindergarten would be a useful institution for parents of the city if it were instituted, but

"Whereas, it appears to this board that the expense of instituting and maintaining a kindergarten at this time would be an undue burden upon the taypayers of the district and especially so in view of the many and various taxes apparently to be imposed upon the people by state and federal governments,

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the items providing for a kindergarten teacher and supplies for kindergarten be stricken from the tentative budget, and that the bud-

BLUFFING PERIOD MAY BE PAST

This country signed a treaty with Japan in 1854 that proclaimed: "There shall be perfect, permanent and universal peace between the two countries."

A lot of water has run under the bridge since then. And a succession of polite insults from the Far East has been turned by a series of bluffs from the Far West.

It was no bluff when Japan moved in further on the continent. Nor when the President froze Japanese credits here. With that action. Los Angeles prepared to lose her best customer, for Japanese trade is worth approximately 45 million dollars annually to business firms of the city. San Francisco squared off to meet the shock of comparable losses. Oil companies, possibly hardet hit, began looking around for possible customers for their average two-million-barrels-per-month shipments to Japan. The largest Japanese colony outside the Orient waited in shocked silence, in Los Angeles. Many doors were closed. Shipping companies. banks, importers and exporters faced collapse and ruin. The magnitude of expected losses was staggering and the tenseness showed in a thousand places.

Then from leaders whose observations are worth recording, came two statements that tell their own story and preach their own sermons. Said Gongoro Nakamura. respected president of the Central Japanese Association of 21 Japanese civic organizations in Southern California: "We Japanese older people have faith in America and confidence that it stands for liberty and justice for all. We are rearing our children to be good Americans and we give full support and cooperation to America at this time."

Said the head of a big oil concern, speaking as an American businessman: "This means a complete stoppage of a big percentage of our cash business. We'll just have to back up our stock and conform After all. America's welfare is more important than any individual loses, no matter how great."

Our "perfect peace" with Japan may be serously threatened. Our 87-year bluffing period may be past. But the important thing to know is that whatever comes, there's unity and help and a willingness to sacrifice where it's needed most —among the folks here at home.—Contributed.

DON'T SIGN HERE!

As a checkrein in labor excesses which have put emery dust in the wheels of production and cost California many millions of dollars in unnecessary and unwarranted strike losses, the state legislature, at its recent session, enacted a bill prohibiting the use of extra-legal secondary boycott during the period of the national emergency.

"Hot cargo," or the secondary boycott, it might be mentioned is the scattergun strike weapon which puts the innocent bystander in the middle in labor disputes—and penalizes the man who has no dispute with his employers, just to get at the fellow who has.

If there was ever any excuse for this type of squeeze play, certainly there can't be today when the whole nation, from the president down to the lowliest taxpayer, is struggling to build a storm cellar before the tornado of war sweeps across the seas.

Petitions are now in circulation to prevent the legislature's anti-"hot cargo" enactment from becoming law and to delay its operation for more than another year. What happens to American production during that year apparently is of little consequence to the petition circulators; what happens to America may even be of little consequence to them, just so they retain their weapons of selfish advantage. But to most of us America comes first. It must come first. In this instance, read before you sgin. When the glib solicitor presents his petition, "don't sign here!" California can't afford it.—Contributed.

FORGET ABOUT POT OF GOLD

Job shifting is going on at a merry pace in the state and nation. Employes are quitting positions for others that pay better wages. But is this the wise course to pursue? Is anything to be gained by giving up a permanent post for a temporary one? What if the war should end suddenly, the defense emergency come to an abrupt finish? What then would happen to these high salaried defens jobs? The answer is they would vanish and those holding them. would be scampering around trying to get their old jobs back.

Young men who are faced with the prospect of being called into the army are not to be blamed for grabbing the best job they can at the best wages while awaiting the call. If they are fortunate enough to get a toehold in a corporation that is obligated to take them back into service when their military period ends, then they are assured of future employment. But if they hook up with some temporary position that pays well but affords no future they are setting themselves back.

Most established businesses today see to it that their employes have a chance of advancement if they show proficiency in their work and desire to get ahead. The going may seem slow at times and the wages less attractive than those paid in the temporary defense jobs, but in the ong haul the regular jobs are the safer and the more lucrative. Anyone with ability and the desire to work now has little difficulty in landing a job. Industry is crying for skilled workmen andis willing to transport them great distances just to get their services.

These are the days when the jobs are crying for men. But after the war the men will again be crying for jobs. In choosing employment at this time, do so with a thought as to the future. Pick a place that has permanency and where opportunity to get ahead is afforded. Don't go chasing the rainbow of temporary high wages for at the end of that rainbow there is no pot of gold'—Sacramento Union.

OUT OF HARM'S WAY!

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder about senators and secretaries, too,
I wonder at the thoughts they think
And at the deeds they do;
But when the tricks of master minds
Bemuse me past belief,
I find in little foolish things, immeasurable relief.

I wonder how much more time and thought we shall devote to the momentous question, "are we in the war?" Now I have been in the war since Hitler poked his ugly head up above the international horizon. How can any American fail to be at war with this creature of the nether regions? He represents all that true Americans hate. Of course we are in the war, being what we are. there is no alternative save that of appeasement and servile surrender and along that course lies destruction of liberty and all that our flag and our constitution represents.

Still in some minds this debate goes on and while it rages. those of us who have individually settled the question. may turn for momentary relaxation to those little silly things which float upon the current of even the darkest streams. Let's smile at them and by so doing follow the example of our English cousins. who laugh and joke even while the wrack of the storm roars above them.

Here are two very inconsequential things which afforded me amusement during the past week; perhaps just for a moment they may take your mind from the international complexities and our own perfectly awful tax bills.

Said the M. C. of a radio quizz program, "I will now repeat a line of a familiar poem and you must supply the line which follows. Listen closely now. 'Shoot if you must this old grey-head'."

There was a momentary pause and then the deep, confident voice of the quizee responded, "but woodman spare that three, she said."

I listened one day last week to a truly remarkable radio piano recital. The M. C. gave the young pianist a glowing introduction to the radio audience—and the pianist made good every boast. He was a Russian who had received his musical education in Moscow and Leningrad. and as I have already said the "build up" was well deserved. At the close of the recital and after the usual closing amenities. the M. C. said: "next week we shall have the privilege of hearing another Russian pianist—this is the red network of the national broadcasting system."

Little silly, inconsequential things floating by with the current of our days. We should be on the alert however, to grasp them eagerly and profit by the momentary divorsion they afford. There are so many thousands in the world today to whom a joke, a smile. and lilting laughter are—verboten.

Uncle Silas says: "This Russo-German war seems to be a game of ring around the rosey. The Germans encircle the Russians and then the Russians encircle the encircling Germans. But why do we speak of Hitler's head quarters when they are so safely located in the remote rear? Still, it wouldn't be dignified to call the great tyrant's place of concealment, his hind quarters—now would it.?—A. Merriam Conner.

POWER DIVE TO BE SHOWN HERE SATURDAY

The thrill-packed story of three young aviation enthusiasts who devote their lives to the furtherance of airplane progress will be seen on the screen of the Nevada Theatre on Saturday when Paramount's "Power Dive" is shown. Richard Arlen ace pilot in private life, takes the part of the test pilot seeking to prove his confidence in a revolutionary designed ship known as a "geodetic-plastic."

What makes this picture even more unusual than the plot itself is the fact that there really is such a plane in real life. Alan Greenwood is its inventor and the real reason behind the picture. For Producer William C. Thomas had heard about Greenwood's exciting adventures at the time he was readying himself to test the streamlined plane idea. As a result "Power Dive" made good use of actual flight and static load tests of the "geodetic" which has the distinction of being the first plane to make its public debut in a Hollywood romance feature.

Nevada County Share School Funds $225,617

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 4.—(UP)—California schools will receive a total of $78,955,862 in state support apportionments during the 1941-42 school year, the state department of education estimated today.

The estimates were based upon regular annual reports submitted by county superintendents of schools to the superintendent of public instruction.

The department said the amount represented a $1,215,007 increase over actual apportionments during the past school year. Estimated diversion of the funds will be $41,878,942 to elementary schools, $34,289,079 to high schools and $2,788,840 to junior college districts.

Greatest increase is the apportionment for high schools, which will receive $1,066,653 more in state aid than last year. Elementary school apportionments will increase $188,404, while junior college districts will receive $40,550 less.

Nevada county will receive $130,350 for elementary schools, $95,267 for high schools, for a total of $225,617 for all types of schools.

New Bill Of Interest To Mining People

State Mineralogist Walter W. Bradley today called the attention of the mining industry to the passage at the 1941 session of the legislature of SB 845. This bill amends section 2313 of the public resources code relating to mining claims tunnel locations, and millsites, and the recording of notice of location, marking of boundaries and performance of discovery work.

The bill was signed by the governor and becomes effective September 13th.

The new law, which is chapter 614 of the statutes of 1941, reads as follows:

Within ninety days after the posting of his notice of location upon a lode mining claim, placer claim, tunnel right or location, or millsite claim or location, the locator shall record a true copy of the notice together with a statement of the markings of the boundaries as required in this chapter, and of the performance of the required discovery work, in the office of the county recorder of the county in which such claim is situated. The county recorder shall receive a fee of $1 for this service.

GOOD PROGRESS BEING MADE IN SEARCH FOR METALS VITAL IN NATIONAL DEFENSE PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(UP)—United States Bureau of Mines officials report that a corps of 500 technicians and engineers is making "unhoped for "progress in the nationwide search for new sources of strategic methals and minerals needed in defense production.

In less than two years of exploratory work, they said, the experts not only have made detailed surveys of known mineral reserves but have discovered as well numerous new deposits of some of the most essential metals for the defense program.

Much of the exploratory work has dealt with deposits of antimony, chromite, manganese, mercury, nickel, tin and tungsten found chiefly in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Virvinia and Washington.

Officials emphasized that the chief purpose of the nationwide study was to grade known metal reserves so plans for processing subcommercial grade ores could be made in advance of more pressing needs.

Surprising Discoveries Made

But in several instances the work of the engineers was marked by the discovery of unsuspected ore deposits.

One of the most important of the chance discoveries was made in the Yellow Pine District of central Idaho, where an extensive deposit of scheelite of high commercial value was found in the course of testing low grade antimony.

Scheelite is a source of tungsten so important a metal in defense that it has been placed under full priority control by the Office of Production Management. Tungsten content steel is used almost exclusively in construction of machine tools because it retains its cutting qualities under extreme temperatures.

The survey of the low grade antimony in the Idaho field was taken solely as a means of determining the amount available but in its midst the engineers discovered one strata containing more than 50 per cent metallic antimony—more than valuable enough for ordinary commercial use. Antimony is needed in making bearings and in hardening the lead in bullets and high caliber rifle shells.

Chromite Depsits Large

Exploratory work in chromite deposits in Oregon and Montana assured the bureau that the nation's reserve of this metal, needed in making durable and rustless alloys, was far greater than previously realized.

The engineers reported that great supplies of manganese, indispensable in smelting ore, were found in Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Arkansas, California, New Mexico, Washington, Montana and Colorado. Most of the deposits, they said, were far below commercial grade, but could be used in event regular sources are depleted.

Surface exploration in the Bottle Creek district of Nevada resulted in the discovery of a mercury deposit of commercial grade. The bureau said work was under way on mercury properties at Coso Hot Springs, Cal., and in Pike County, Ark., although in neither place were operation considered sufficiently advanced to permit conclusions.

Mercury Uses Vital

Mercury is essential in preparation of medicines and in making a special type of poisonous paint for ship bottoms which keeps the barnacle menace at a minimum.

The bureau reported it was currently exploring deposits in Montana and on Yakohi Islands, Alaska, for traces of nickel, essential in making marine boilers, armor plate and rustless marine instruments. Nickel also is under full priority control.

Considerable effort is being made in exploration for tin, a metal almost non existent in the United States but needed greatly for construction of bearings for high speed machines and in making of metal cans for food storage. The experts said exploratory work was in progress on a tin deposit near Spokane, Wash.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

CONSCIENCE

Conscience is merely our own judgement of the right or wrong of our actions, and so can never be a safe guide unless enlightened by the word of God.—Tryon Edwards.

Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire, called Conscience.—George Washington.

This period is not essentially one of conscience: few feel and live now as when this nation began, and our forefathers' prayers blended with the murmuring winds of their forest home.—Mary Baker Eddy.

The men who succeed best in public life are those who take the risk of standing by their own convictions. —James A. Garfield.

Cowardice asks, Is it safe? Expediency asks, Is it politic? Vanity asks, Is it popular? but Conscience asks, Is it right?—Punshon.

There is no class of men so difficult to be managed in a state as those whose intentions are honest, but whose consciences are bewitched.—Napoleon.

—Christian Science Society

The Christian Science Society of Nevada City holds services at 114 Boulder Street every Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. A testimonial meeting is held the first Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m.

"The fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth." These words from Ephesians comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, August 10, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Spirit." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Fear not, O land.... be glad and rejoice; for the Lord will do great things. And ye shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none else; and my people shall never be ashamed" (Joel 2: 21, 27).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The calm, strong currents of true spirituality, the manifestations of which are health, purity and self-immolation, must deepen human experience, until the beliefs of material existence are seen to be a bald imposition, and sin, disease, and death give everlasting place to the scientific demonstration of divine Spirit and to God's spiritual, perfect man" (p. 99).

—Catholic Church

Two masses will be celebrated Sunday at the St. Canice Catholic Church. The first mass will be at 8 a. m. and the second at 10:30 a. m. Father Patrick O'Reilly will be in charge of the services.

Mountain Lion Kills Two Calves At Mt. Oro

Jack Hicks, local butcher, reports a mountain lion has killed two calves in the Mt. Oro district recently. There is a possibility the lion has a mate in the vicinity.

While doing assessment work on his claims in the same district, Geo. Carey saw a large lion resting on a log near the Scriven cabin adjoining his claims.

Nevada County Utilities Taxed On $8,091,060

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 4.—Holdings of California public utility companies hit an all time high when their property today was given assessed valuation of $1,35,305,760 by the State Board of Equalization.

It is explained that this total was an increase of more than $24,000,000 over the previous year and would result in the utilities paying an increase of nearly $1,000,000 in local taxes.

The current total, it was pointed out, includes intangible property valued at $50,824,660, and tangible property amounting to $984,481,100.

According to a report submitted to the board by its valuation division, the utility assessment roll for 1941 in Nevada county, included tangible property $8,091,606, as compared with the 1940 total of $7,932,490.

This assessed valuation is determined only for the purposes of local taxation. On the basis of the average tax rate of last year, it was estimated that utilities whose property was included in this roll would pay in excess of $36,000,000 in local taxes. The roll will become final as of the third Monday of August.

THE EDITORIAL CIRCUIT RIDER

A Symposium of Editorial Comment from California Newspapers

By J. F. McLAUGHLIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Japan's move into Indo-China was viewed by California editors generally as the final step leading to a showdown in the Pacific.

And President Roosevelt's prompt response by freezing Japanese assets in this country they regard as serving a warning that the United States has quit fooling.

Expressing a belief that war with Japan may be near, the Napa Daily Register points out that "Nippon's recent movement into Indo-China and her absorption of naval and air bases there that would serve her well as springboards for attacks on the Philippines and Singapore will no doubt place an added strain upon relations that have not been cordial since Japan started her unprovoked invasion of inoffenseve and peace-loving China several years ago. A complete break between Japan and the United States might come at any moment now."

Appeasement of Japan has failed, states the Orange Daily News, and "whether the economic isolation announced by the United States and England will serve to bring the Japanese into an endurable relationship remains to be seen. Japan is no Germany, because Japan is vulnerable to attack and must eventually fall before the combined forces arrayed against her. Our appeasement of Japan was the appeasement of a weaker nation by a stronger. It is beyond belief that Japan will challenge the naval strength of the United States and England."

Terming the Japanese move "a fatal mistake", the Santa Rosa Republican continues: "The administration at Washington is pledged to keep this country out of war, but it is also pledged to all-out aid for every nation that resists armed aggression and to the total defense of the western hemisphere. It may not be possible to keep all these pledges, but it is certain that if any of them must be violated it will be the resolution to stay out of war."

Admittedly, the president was confronted with a very complex problem when he adopted appeasement, said the Santa Monica Evening Outlook, adding:

"The nations have always been friendly and their trade has been extensive and profitable to both. To have embargoed oil shipments would have invited serious reprisals and been the first step to war for which we were not adequately prepared. War with Japan would have engaged the American fleet in the Pacific and left us little naval strength with which to protect our interests in the Atlantic."

"Perhaps it was necessary to our safety that such a foreign policy be followed," agrees the Ontario Daily Report, "but it would seem that our much-heralded help to China as a sister democracy becomes a joke in view of such a course of conduct. Certainly the shipment of oil to the Japanese by the United States cannot be justified ethically. The result of such appeasement policies toward an axis partner is now apparent in Japan's new aggressions to the south. The little yellow men, made 'honorary Nordics' by Hitler's decree, will continue to take a mile if given an inch."

Japan's dream of empire in the Pacific and far east has been longer than Hitler's passion for domination, declares the Bakersfield Californian continuing:

"In a real sense these 'birds of a feather' have flocked together. They found a post world war earth anxious for peace. Taking advantage of that sentiment, they fostered among themselves the belief that might was greater than right. These are the birds of prey that have flocked together to satisfy their mad ambitions."

The petition protests as follows:

"I—We do not desire to give up our farms, homes and ranches for a camp site. This area is producing essentials for defense, viz: wheat, barley, oats, cattle, sheep, hogs, milk, butter, poultry and eggs and is as productive an area as any of same size.

"2—We have made our homes and livings within this area for two and three generations and would find it impossible to support ourselves in other places besides there are no areas into which we could move.

"3—We have not been consulted by the Marysville promoters and the site is being offered against the wishes of the property owners.

"4—We are sure a less thickly populated and less productive area can be selected for an army cantonment."

The Nevada County Board of Supervisors will meet Monday to act on a request for the abandonment of all roads within the proposed cantonment areas in Nevada County. At that time vigorous protests are expected to be lodged by those opposing the cantonment.

CONFIDENCE

Confidence is certainty. When you have confidence in people you know they will do what you expect them to do. On confidence rests the foundation of government, the relationships of business, the bonds of friendship and even the ties of family.

To say you have confidence in a firm is to express the greatest compliment possible. It means that firm believes in and practices fair dealing; that its product of service is built to a rigid standard of excellence; that it backs up every promise and fulfills every contract. Integrity alone begets confidence.—Contributed.

Politically Speaking

By JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 7.—(UP)—While it lasts, the state government is reaping a golden harvest of revenues as cash registers click merrily in the greatest buying boom in the state's history. Defense buying has been tremendous. Advance purchases of new cars, household equipment and heavy machinery has been sensational, as people with money get in the buying market before priorities and defense industries choke off available supplies. Even the silk stocking counters have been jammed as alarmed women recklessly bought up everything in sight, often disregarding the obvious fact that silk deteriorates rapidly.

The best proof of the state's temporary prosperity is the all time record set in sales tax collections. Whereas the collection for the second quarter of 1940 was $*6,273,000 and a new high of $29,760,000 for the fourth quarter, probable total of the quarter ending last June 30 may reach $33,500,000.

The sales tax finance state educational costs and other things hence the state treasury is rapidly reduc the unprecedented flow of cash nto ing the red ink deficit. It was estimated this would have reduced the $48,000,000 mark last June 30 had not the defense drive set in. The deficit was $39,000,000 when Governor Olson took office in 1939 but has dwindled to around $30,000,000 at present.

From a political standpoint, the Olson camp is tickled pink at the unexpected windfall of good publicity. They are claiming that if the defense boom lasts long enough, and the normal pace of business is permitted to continue, the deficit will not only be wiped out by the end of the present biennium—June 30, but an imposing surplus piled up in excess of $50,000,000.

In this regard, the Olsonites got an assist from the legislature, which clamped down on relief spending and saved the state between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000.

Finance Director George Killion was frank to state that the increase over the budget estimates is largely a matter of receiving revenue before it was expected, rather than receiving revenue which was not anticipated. And no one doubts that the pendulum will swing the other way some of these days.

Yet the magic phrase "he balanced the budget" will be a certainty next year in Olson's campaign if—1, the defense bubble doesn't burst, and—2, Olson follows out his present desire to make a campaign for a second term.

Everyone is pretty well agreed that one answer toward preventing a depression after the defene activity is to go ahead with the state's long-range building program, long neglected. Thus by saving up all possible funds at this time, there will be a cushion from which to expend for state buildings when the crash comes.

The state's institutions, prisons and schools have lagged far behind i nthe past several decades. When economies were sought, the building program was just delayed another biennium. The inmates were in the minority and there was less political pressure in their behalf. But year by year, these structures have deteriroated into fire traps and deplorable housing. Rising populations have resulted in over crowding.

A legislative committee will work out many details of the buildig program, not only for institutions and prisons but the housing of state offices in Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and other larger centers. Most of these towns have state offices scattered around in private and public buildings, such as the dozen or so building accommodating state employes in Sacramento.

Prospects for a special session of the legislature remain status quo, with the governor remaining silent and everyone else hazarding guesses. The SRA crisis has simmered down to the point where the chief worry is in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Alameda and San Bernardino counties, where the bulk of the remaining caseload exists

There seems to be widespread sentiment for calling a session of the legisuature to increase the state's share of the old age pension program, thus ligtening the load on the counties.

Like any sensible politician, Olson is refusing to call the legislators to Sacramento for any reason unless he can be assured of unified support in advance. The five special sessions of 1940 taught the governor some valuable lessons in practical politics.

NEW SPEED LAW NOT IN EFFECT UNTIL SEPT. 13

The new California speed law changing the prima facie limit from 45 to 55 miles an hour on the open highway will not become effective until Saturday, September 13, motorists are cautioned by the California State Automobile Association.

The new measure, covering all speed limits and zoning, also fixes 25 miles as the limit for districts containing veterans establishments. PJresent 15 and 25 mile zones remain unchanged, with these exceptions:

If surveys show that conditions warrant, the limit in certain 25 mile districts may be raised to 35 or 45 miles by the Department of Public Works, or by local authorities having similar power over highways within their jurisdiction.

If an open section between two 25 mile zones is not over 1500 feet in length, the entire area may be rezoned to 25 miles. Extension for 1000 feet of present 25 mile zones, to permit motorists to slow down from open highway speed before entering a congested area, is authorized.

LABOR UNIONS SEEK TO DEFEAT HOT CARGO ACT

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

Organized labor with the aid of an army of professional petition solicitors, is making a desperate, last-ditch stand to delay enforcement of the bill enacted by the state legislature banning the use of secondary boycotts or the "hot cargo" designation, in labor disputes.

The referendum petitions have been in circulation for several weeks and thousands of dollars are being spent from union treasuries in an attempt to get sufficient voter-signatures to force the issue to a vote of the people at next year's General Election.

Whether the referendum effort is successful will depend, to large extent, on whether California voters are sufficiently fed up with labor excesses and needless strike tie-ups to be on the alert and investigate the petitions they are asked to sign.

Farmers, whose very existence is threatened by continued use of the vicious secondary boycott should be particularly careful in inquiring into the merits of any referendum or initiative petition they are asked to sign at this time. More than that, they should do everything possible to warn their neighbors against signing such petitions.

If operation of the act, prohibiting boycotts, would not be held up pending the election, it might be just as well to let the issue go to the people, for there is no question in this writer's mind that the people of California would back up the action of the legislature and vote approval of the anti "hot cargo" act by an overwhelming majority. But if the referendum petitions are allowed to qualify, enforcement of the new law will be delayed for more than a year—and during that time, despite the country's need for stepped-up production in the cause of national defense, labor will doubtless consider that it has a license to employ the secondary boycott against agriculture, business and national defense industries.

There can be no slightest justification either morally or economically, even in normal times, for use of the secondary boycott weapon. It is labor racketeering at its worst, for it permits unscrupulous labor bosses to tie up the crops of farmers who have no labor difficulties and no dispute with their employes; it permits them to declare such crops "hot cargo" and let them rot on the docks or in the warehouses, despite the fact that the producer is not a party to the controversy at issue and may be ruined by the loss of his entire year's income. But in a period of national emergency, with the country's security dependent on its ability to produce, the attempt of labor leaders to regain the right to use this outlaw weapon amounts to sabotage of the national defense program.

Cool heads in labor's councils prevailed when the legislature adjourned and it was announced that no attempt would be made to invoke the referendum against the bill banning the secondary boycott. Many labor leaders stated, off the record, that they were convinced the public was against th epractice, and that labor would take a drubbing if the question was forced to a vote of the people. After a few weeks, however, the hot-heads were able to high-pressure the AFL executive committee into reversing itself and taking a position in favor of a referendum campaign. More than $50,000 has been made available for the petition drive from union funds, it is reported, and professional solicitors are at work in all centers of population.

It is now time for the average Californian, who is the victim of labor's excesses, to speak his mind—and serve notice that the days of high-handed labor racketeering in California are over. The quickest, surest, most economical way to deliver that ultimatum is to defeat the petition drive now in progress. But if labor is able to qualify the petitions then California should do the job at the polls—and do it by such a smashing majority that the "hot cargo" practice will be kicked into the discard for all time.

Washington our senators carried out its instructions and the 7,500,000 acres of California land was thrown into the public domain, with no redress for the tribes and there is evidence of an advertisement offering a bounty for Indian scalps.

The Indian population at that time was about 200,000. Owing to dissipation and disease brought in by the white population this number had dwindled in 1927 to 20,000 souls.

In 1927, California congressmen secured the right of the state, through their attorney general to sue the federal government for payment of the lands, the money to go to those who were enrolled in 1852.

California in later years has been more kind in its ministrations, providing schools when practical but there are still some "grafters" doing what they can to prevent adjustment and although fourteen years have passed since the right was given to sue, nothing has been done that I know of. I have faith in Earl Warren and believe he will be just in his dealings. Some years ago the Department of the Interior thought best to discontinue Indian schools and force the children to attend the white schools under the assumption that the pupils would the sooner become civilized. Many white folks objected on account of dirt and disease and the Indians were forced out, their education neglected, civilization deferred.

A one time a man by name of Collett came into this district telling our local tribesmen that it would be necessary to hire lawyers in their behalf to get the payment from the government and he persuaded many of them to make regular payments, appointing one of them as receiver so that his name would not be signed to receipts. I saw many of these given to poor old Josie who was not only paying for herself but for many of her ancestors. Collett was tried for his criminal effort but was discharged as innocent because the evidence was not sufficient, and I understand his nefarious work is still going on in some parts of the state.

The record of the Congressional Act of 1852 was filed in secret for fifty years but bronght to light by Congressman Lea in his stand to right the wrong done to proper owners of the property.

Five Dollar Fine For Man Who Dumped Rubbish In Tahoe Area

The drive made by District Ranger H. I. Snider and his assistants to stop rubbish dumping in the Lake Tahoe and Truckee area of the Tahoe National Forest culminated in a payment of a fine of five dollars by Elmer Rouse before Justice of the Peace C. E. Smith at Truckee last week.

Snider states he apprehended Rouse dumping rubbish and garbage in an old dumping ground and asked him to contact the regular garbage collector at Truckee and arrange with him to dump material at the regular dumpgrounds where only a nominal charge is made for such collection or dumping, but Rouse rehauled the material to some other place after dark which ired the ranger.

tion to carry on construction work on the Nevada County end of this road. As the budget appropriation had been exhausted, the Highway Commission granted the amount of $40,000. Recognizing its importance, the commission included $100,000 in the current biennium for continuance of this work and made an additional appropriation of $36,500 for work across Goodyear Creek.

If there is any credit due Mr. See, it must have been these two last appropriations, but I am sure Mr. Purcell, the highway engineer, will verify the statements that I am making, for his office has furnished this information and it was Mr. Purcell who appeared before the commission for me in seeking the $40,000 appropriation to which I have just referred.

In addition to those appropriations, there has been appropriated for additional construction work in Sierra County $79,530 between the years 1932-41 and $276,141 for additional maintenance costs on these roads, making a total of $355,761. Combining these figures with the money expended on the Nevada City-Downieville Highway will make a total of $1,268,144 expended in Sierra County road projects; plus the $136,500 appropriated for the 1941-43 budget or a grand total of $1,404,644.

It is most amusing and rather interesting to learn that a man practically unknown to the county is responsible for all of this money and road improvements, and it is somewhat disheartening, I am sure, to the legislative representatives of this district to learn that their efforts were of no avail and that a railway labor lobbyist is the man to be credited with this great achievement.

I personally do not desire to assume any credit as I feel it is my public obligation to cooperate in every respect, but I am deeply grateful for the fine support I have received from the various booster organizations in Nevada and Sierra Counties and the help and advice they have given me in my efforts to fulfill my obligation as a public official. The boards of supervisors, city councils, the county and local city chambers of commerce, and the local service clubs have been most helpful. If there is any credit due for any improvements that have been made upon any of the roads in my district, it is due to the untiring and unselfish efforts of these organizations and many individuals in these counties who have interested themselves in their county highway welfare.

I bring these facts to you that the people may know the true circumstances surrounding road funds in this district, and irrespective of any good intentions Editor Cassidy might have had in publishing an editorial for his friend, Mr. See, the facts do not bear out his statement

The statements I have made herein have been taken from a letter addressed to me and signed by Mr. George T. McCoy, Assistant State Highway Engineer, dated July 31, 1941, and accompanied by an itemized account of these expenditures year by year as I have quoted them to you.

After reading this editorial and a telegram published in the Mountain Messenger, signed by Harry See, advising the people of that community that the governor had signed the appropriation bill sponsored by Assemblyman Gunlock and myself for flood damages occurring during the Downieville flood, I took the matter up with the private secretary of Governor Olson, sending him a copy of the Mountain Messenger, and endeavoring to learn just how Mr. See could act in the capacity in which he was operating.

I quote to you an excerpt from a letter dated July 28, 1941, addressed to me, and signed by Mr. Frank C. Sullivan, private secretary to the Govenor, in which he says:

"The only thing I can tell you is that we cannot be responsible for the activities of individuals who have no official connection with the office; in other words, this office had no knowledge that Mr. See got the information—which is public in nature — and transmitted it to Mr. Cassidy."

If Mr. See was solely responsible for the appropriations mentioned in the Auburn Journal editorial, he evidently ought to advise the governor's office to this effect for you can note the above quotation that they are sadly in the dark regarding Mr. See's influence, or he is usurping credit that rightfully belongs to someone else in order to feather his own nest in the eyes of the people of Sierra and Nevada Counties. This is why I said in this opening statement that the whole situation is most amusing to me.

Trusting this brings the true picture to you, I beg to remain

Sincerely yours,

JERROLD L. SEAWELL.

About one quarter of a mile from the North Bloomfield road I observed a deer, and jumped from the automobile and fired one shot from the rifle at the deer. At the report of the rifle I heard a man's voice exlaim: "Hey! for Christ's sake!" I called to Riley who was in the automobile, that a man had shouted, and we had better go see what had happened. Riley got out of the automobile and we started down toward where we heard the man's voice. We saw a flashlight beam and I told Riley that apparently everything was all right, and we had better get out of there, because if any body had fired a shot close to me I would be throwing lead in the direction that the shot came from. We left the scene of this shooting about 9 p. m. and returned to our camp at Gold Canyon."
